

How to Use Unify Circuit more effectively with Jabra sound solutions

With Unify's cloud solution Circuit, teams can collaborate effectively across disciplines - and independent of their locations.

Circuit makes voice, HD-video, messaging as well as screen- and file sharing accessible via a single, central interface, thereby enabling natural user experiences. The platform is uniquely suited for the demanding requirements of mobile workers: They need to rely on high-quality and dependable collaboration solutions as well as audio endpoint devices which need to be perfectly attuned to the software.

Flawless sound solutions for a unique user experience

Circuit is even more productive when matched with the right end-point device. For when conversations are precise and authentic, users are able to receive an immediate experience of the complete range of Circuit's functions. As a sound expert, Jabra knows what is vital for great conversations: impeccable audio quality. Apart from that, solutions should be easy to operate, effortless to merge with Circuit's infrastructure and offer a unique user experience. Wireless devices offer an even greater mobility.
